Registration is open for the second webinar in the three-part series highlighting topics and issues explored through Measures that Matter, a cooperative agreement between the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) and the Chief Officers of State Library Agencies (COSLA). “MtM” activities include surveying the current state of public library data, assessing strengths and weaknesses and formulating a plan for future action.

The second webinar will be held June 13, 2017 at 3:00 pm ET. Hosted by Web Junction, this webinar features Rebecca Teasdale, Senior Evaluation and Research Associate, Garibay Group; John Bertot, Associate Provost for Faculty Affairs and Professor, College of Information Studies at the University of Maryland; Linda Hofschire, Director, Library Research Service, Colorado State Library. The presentation will drill deeper into the concepts of sampling, data types, and data management, and how they impact what we know about public libraries and their patrons. At the end of this webinar, participants will have a greater understanding of various sampling methods, recognize the differences between inputs, outputs, and outcomes, and be aware of the data management practices for various national public library surveys.
